

Parent Report — Marco L. (FICTIONAL DEMO DATA) (2025-08-19)

Draft for professional review — generated by CaseCraft.

Situation: Ask for help when unsure, no more than 2 prompts

Overview

Marco L. (FICTIONAL DEMO DATA) worked towards: "Ask for help when unsure, no more than 2 prompts".

Session outcome: MET.

This report summarises what happened and what you can reinforce at home.

What we're working on

What we're working on | Evidence this session | Status

|---|---|---|

Asking for help when unsure (up to 2 prompts) | Asked 3 times: 2 after one prompt each, 1 freely at 10:30 | Met

Work experience readiness (3-step job routine) | Completed bagging → labelling → packing flow without a missed step

No status without evidence — if it says "Met", the evidence is in the middle column.

What went well

- Reached for the ear support before the machine sound — no reminder needed at 10:15
- Asked "What should I do next?" freely after the second tray
- Said at debrief: "I asked Mrs. Chan two questions. I knew the answer to the third one."

Home strategies

- Practice the script: "Before we tidy up: 5 more minutes, then we tidy the trays together."
- Look at the MTR route for the bakery together — route details are calming
- Keep ear support in the same bag pocket every day

Same words at home

Say the same phrase the class uses (transition warning before tidying), so things stay consistent:
"Before we tidy up: 5 more minutes, then we tidy the trays together."

What to watch for

- Pauses longer than ~30 seconds before the next step
- Hands moving toward ears when a machine starts

If you see these, the script above and a quiet minute usually help.

Next session focus

Building on what worked this session — more practice with the same script and one new step.

Contact

_____ (fill in the professional's name and role)

This update is written deliberately for the family; the bigger picture lives with the professional team.